Round One of National School Pride program delivers funding to 44 local schools

Amanda Rishworth the Federal Member for Kingston today announced that 44 local schools in the Kingston electorate will receive over 6 million dollars for minor infrastructure projects under Round One of the National School Pride (NSP) program.

“I am please to see such a significant investment to our local schools in the southern suburbs of Adelaide.”

“It is great to see both our local schools and our local community benefit from the Government’s $14.7 billion investment in vital school infrastructure and local jobs.”

“This investment will not only improve the learning environment of our children but also stimulate employment in the local area” Ms Rishworth said

NSP program is delivering the first phase of the Rudd Government’s $14.7 billion Building the Education Revolution (BER) investment.

The $1.3 billion National School Pride program will deliver much needed funding for school maintenance projects and support local jobs.

Construction and maintenance work will commence as soon as possible, with many of the National School Pride projects planned to begin this month.

A list of successful schools and their planned projects are available at:

Ms Rishworth encouraged local schools to submit applications for Round Two which closes on 8 May 2009.

Today’s announcement starts to deliver on the BER which is a key element of the Government’s $42 billion Nation Building and Jobs Plan to stimulate local economies and invest in important infrastructure for the long term.
