2011 Student Leadership Forum!

Amanda Rishworth MP, Federal Member for Kingston was delighted to host her annual Student Leadership Forum at the Port Noarlunga Arts Centre on Wednesday.

Ms Rishworth said the forum was a huge success with over 130 student leaders from primary schools around the South coming together to share ideas and improve their leadership skills.

Ms Rishworth said “It was an absolute pleasure to work with this talented and engaged group of local student leaders.

“This forum provides local student leaders with an opportunity to gain inspiration and knowledge about the qualities of a good leader and the importance of contributing positively to their school and wider community.

“I was extremely impressed with some of the excellent ideas and proposals that the participating students came up with and I am hopeful that each of the student leaders came away from the forum feeling inspired and having learnt something new about being a good leader.”

Student leaders heard from guest speakers including former AFL player Jason Torney, Nine News weekday weather presenter Brenton Ragless, local youth leader Lauren Jew, Ten News weekday weather presenter Jane Reilly and South Australian Police Force Constable Amanda Dawson.

Ms Rishworth said “I would like to thank the participating schools and their staff for all their assistance as well as the guest speakers who generously donated their time to share their interesting and varied experiences with the students.”
